153	Overall I was very disappointed in the quality of presentations. I was mostly aggravated at the fact that many of the presenters simply read their powerpoint presentations. The shocking fact was that many of these presenters were from the ADE. I understand that this was a "Free" conference so probably did not have a large budget, but we are educators. Simply reading a slide and clicking is not a very high level on blooms nor is it very engaging. It also insults the intelligence of those in attendance...we can read, engage us in discussion.	6/22/2015 7:51 AM
154	Some of the presentations were not substantial like reading word for word a list of teacher appreciation events that quite honestly weren't very original. One I can read any information and two give us more, something new.	6/22/2015 7:50 AM

199	The fact that most of the sessions were "basic" information, not how to put it in action. If some of us don't know the basics, maybe there should be differentiated learning because most of this stuff was information we already knew. 1	All sessions need tables so participants have a surface on which to take notes.	7/6/2015 11:27 AM
2	Yes, please organize the conference with better speakers, provide handouts for the participants. I know the thought was to get all the materials on line but some of us like to follow along during the presentation. Its a proven fact that snacks and drinks make for a more attentative audience and only drinks were available, but was late in getting there. Some of the conference was good, but some just seemed to be filler.	7/6/2015 10:30 AM

198	The location of the conference was great! It was a fun place to go, and it was nice to be in a town that offered a lot of fun things to do. The biggest imposition to me was that there was no way to get snacks or a bite to eat without leaving the convention center itself. The snack bar was never opened as had been stated, and the vending machines were super expensive! The first day I made the mistake of purchasing something from one of the machines. It accepted only a credit/debit card, and I was charged $4 for a drink! No receipt was provided; therefore, I could not use that as a per diem item claim : (So, that is one thing that would be suggested: to have food/drink opportunities on site where people do not have to leave if they would rather not.	6/18/2015 2:45 PM
